Car park to go in town centre redevelopment

Drawing up a town facelift

MAJOR plans that will knock down the multi-storey car park in Bolton Street, Banbury, to make way for a new supermarket are set to go out for public debate.

By Oliver Evans

Cherwell District Council will hold a six-week consultation on proposals for the Bolton Street area later this year. The plans would involve knocking down the building on the corner of North Bar Street and Warwick Road, which includes Gala Bingo, so that a 60,000-sq-ft supermarket could be built.

The car park would be replaced with the same number of spaces – at least 630 – as part of a retail and hotel complex comprising up to 100 rooms.

The bingo hall and WRVS centre for older people would be replaced and a public square built facing Castle Street.

The council owns much of the land but said it would need to team up with a major developer to get the scheme open as early as 2014.

Norman Bolster, executive member for economic development and estates, said: "It is a tired area and the opportunity is there to extend the work we have already done in Banbury town centre."

"It does seem a natural progression to link it to that area."

He said he was confident enough car parking spaces would be provided, adding: "This is a town centre development, it is not just intended for car users."

"I think there is a need for a food outlet in the centre of Banbury."

Discussions had not taken place with potential supermarkets, he said.

Liz Reed, manager of the WRVS, said: "I think it is very exciting. The area could do with some regeneration."

"It could be an opportunity to address issues with our current building, which we have outgrown."

Banbury Civic Society chairman Rob Kinchin-Smith said: "The town certainly needs a better town-centre grocer."

Yet he said he feared a supermarket could be given the site "without making any commitment to staying around".

The plan is to be considered by the council's executive committee on Monday at 6.30pm at the council's Bodicote House HQ. The public are welcome to attend.

Man admits drink-drive death

A DRINK driver has admitted causing the death of a teenage moped rider.

Glen Holburt, 53, of Duns Tew Road, Hempton, appeared at Oxford Crown Court and admitted causing death by driving without due care and attention while over the alcohol limit.

Moped rider Edward Lynch, a 16-year-old Warriner School pupil, was hit by Holburt's Audi at Deddington on April 15. The 53-year-old driver had 63mg of alcohol in 100ml of breath. The legal limit is 35mg.

Judge Christopher Compston granted Holburt bail ahead of a sentencing hearing on November 16.

Community radio team to bid for licence again

BOSSSES at Banbury FM – which unsuccessfully bid for a permanent licence in 2005 – are to try to get on air again.

They will bid again in 2014 to get a licence as a not-for-profit community radio station. Yet they said raising cash to get it off the ground would be difficult as Government rules state all cash must be raised through grants.

This is because there is a commercial radio station in the town, Banbury Sound, which won the 2005 licence bid, contested by two others. The original Banbury FM went on air for trial periods in 2001 and 2002 and won the backing of 6,000 residents to demand the Government allow a station in the town.

Founder Andy Green said: "We don't believe it is viable unless you can take some advertising.

"So we are calling for the powers that be to reassess the rules for community radio and make it an open playing field."

A community radio station would place a strong focus on town news and events, he said. The 2005 licence was awarded by broadcasting regulator Ofcom to the Stratford-on-Avon based station, The Bear, beating Banbury FM and Banbury 107.6.

The Banbury FM website has marked the ten years since its first broadcast by putting its 2002 trial online at banburyfm.com

A Department for Culture, Media and Sport spokesman said: "There are restrictions on the amount of funding community radio stations can raise from advertising. This protects the way community stations engage with the community, rather than seeking profit."

90-mile journey for 60-yard court ride

By Oliver Evans

THE decision to send a van 90 miles to take a defendant 60 yards from Banbury police station to the local magistrates court has been branded "a total waste of money" by the man at the centre of the saga.

Prison authorities sent a van from Southampton to take Oliver Thomas to court, after he was arrested for two alleged public order offences last week.

But speaking about the decision, Mr Thomas, 27, said: "It was absolutely ridiculous. I was arrested on Friday night and held in a cell all weekend and told I'd be up in court first thing Monday.

"Then on the morning I was told there was a delay with the van, so they couldn't transport me to the court."

Mr Thomas, of Middleton Road, Banbury, added: "The court is next door to the police station. At first I wasn't too bothered about waiting. But we were waiting for hours. Then they told me the van was coming from Southampton. I thought they were joking.

"Surely they could have just walked me there in handcuffs."

The van was sent by GEOAmev, which is contracted by the Ministry of Justice to transport defendants between custody and courts.

The Ministry of Justice refused to comment on whether it would review its policy of not allowing defendants in custody to travel on foot to court.

GEOAmev had said it was a human rights issue and the need to send a vehicle from Southampton was due to a lack of availability from its Buckinghamshire vehicle base.

Mr Thomas said: "It doesn't take a rocket scientist to work it out – order a van from Southampton, which is miles away, or walk me across the road in less than a minute.

"It's a total waste of taxpayers' money."

But Mr Thomas added: "They didn't say to me it would be against my human rights to walk me out front, but even if they did, I wouldn't have minded."

Ministry of Justice spokesman Tom Hodson said its policy to transport defendants by van was for "public protection".

He added: "Contractors always plan journeys efficiently to make the best use of their resources.

"In this case the escort vehicle also made a number of other stops to other prisons and courts."

Hi-tech firm No.2 announces expansion plans in the town

More jobs on the way

HI-TECH firm Goodrich CTG has announced that it has started work on a new multi-million pound "centre of excellence" in Banbury. It will lead to more than 250 jobs being created over the next five to ten years.

This is addition to last week's news that Motorsport firm Prodrive hoped to double in size after announcing a move to the former Hella Manufacturing factory in Southam Road.

Goodrich's £14m development is designed to accommodate a rapidly growing workforce.

Bosses said the building at the Network M40 business park would allow the company's existing five sites to be reduced to two and the new building will be able to accommodate a workforce expected to grow from 185, as it is currently, to 450 over the next ten years.

The firm specialises in the design and manufacture of high-performance composite materials for the aerospace, medical and motorsport industries, including Formula One cars.

Managing director Dominic Cartwright said: "The new development not only makes our operations more streamlined and effective, it also helps us build for the future."

The UK Composite Centre of Excellence, as it will be called, is due for completion in July 2012.

community grants on offer

NEWSQUEST, the parent company of the Banbury Cake, is once again asking for community groups to apply for grants from its Gannett Foundation.

The foundation is the charitable arm of the Banbury Cake's owners — and twice a year gives away awards for substantial projects that require grants of between £5,000 and £10,000.

The new round of donations for Oxfordshire has been launched, giving groups across the county until 5pm on Friday, October 21, to get their applications in.

Last year, the foundation helped, among others, the Art Room at Rose Hill Primary School, Oxford, by granting £2,300 and donating £6,848 to the Didcot, Abingdon and Wantage Talking Newspaper.

The Gannett grants — which have handed out more than £4m in the UK alone — are designed to support projects that benefit a broad section of the population or are seen to have a lasting, positive effect on the community.

Banbury Cake editor Simon O'Neill said: "We would encourage Oxfordshire's charitable organisations to bid for the grants."

"The Gannett Foundation is a wonderful organisation that has given hundreds of thousands of pounds to good causes over the years and we want to make sure Oxfordshire groups get their fair share."

For more details and an application form to download, go to banburycake.co.uk/news/gannettfoundation

Who qualifies for big pay-outs

GANNETT encourages applications from imaginative and ambitious projects which require and merit awards of between £5,000 and £10,000.

Organisations applying must be registered charities and Gannett particularly values projects that will bring lasting benefit to the community.

Projects will also be favoured that demonstrate good planning, oversight and financial responsibility. Recent accounts must be submitted.

Awards will not be given to national charities or organisations that have received a Gannett grant within the last two years.

State or privately-run schools, hospitals, animal charities, political or religious causes and day-to-day running costs are also excluded.

For a full list of guidelines, visit gannettfoundation.org

Stunning floral displays win top award in battle of the blooms

THREE hundred stunning flower displays have helped Banbury win a top award.

The town won gold in the small city category of the Thames & Chilterns in Bloom competition, overcoming rivals Bracknell and Aylesbury.

It was the first time since 2007 that the town has won a gold award in the contest — it has come close in the past few years winning a string of silver gilt awards.

Judges praised Banbury Town Council for its community garden, which is set within People's Park, and its 300 "stunning" colour co-ordinated floral displays.

And they were also impressed by recently planted Help for Heroes roses at the People's Park War Memorial, which was created to commemorate the Banbury branch of the Royal British Legion's 90th anniversary this year.

The chairman of Banbury

in Bloom, Nicholas Harrison, said: "To achieve this award we have shown a consistently high standard across the town in all the judging criteria, and what better way to celebrate this than by receiving a gold award."

Judges had visited the town in July and looked for horticultural achievement, including conservation and natural areas, the impact of floral displays, residential and community gardens, as well as community participation. The community garden is run by volunteers and is a place for people of all ages and abilities to do as little or as much gardening as they want.

It has flowers, a pond and vegetable plots, and is also where the town council's gardeners grow flowers for Banbury's displays.

The award ceremony was held in Buckinghamshire and was attended by representatives of the town council, Cherwell District Council and Continental Landscapes.

Former Banbury mayor Colin Clarke, who attended the ceremony, said: "We got the gold award from the judges, which is as high as we can go. We were chuffed, as Bracknell pipped us to the post last year."

"I have been going around with the judges for five or six years and this was the first time I could not see anything wrong anywhere. In all we are very pleased. It was worth the effort."

Tributes paid to 17-year-old student Shock over plunge death

The multi-storey car park in Bolton Road, Banbury

A 17-YEAR-OLD student has died after falling from a Banbury multi-storey car park.

Matthew Measures was seen by a witness falling from the car park in Bolton Road at about 1am on Sunday.

The former Blessed George Napier Catholic School pupil was taken to the Horton General Hospital where he died.

Police said the A-Level student's death was being treated as unexplained but not suspicious and officers were examining CCTV.

An inquest was expected to be opened this week.

It is understood Mr Measures, a student at Banbury's Oxford & Cherwell Valley College, was alone when he fell from the car park after a night out with friends.

Friends gathered at the car park to lay flowers. Fellow student Jodie Childs, 18, said: "He was the nicest guy you could ever meet. People are shocked and upset. It was so sudden."

College principal Sally Dicketts said "We are all devastated by the news of Matthew's sudden death. We send our deepest sympathies to his family and friends."

"Matthew was an A-grade A-Level student, studying chemistry, biology and maths."

"He was popular with staff and students."

Matthew's fellow students and friends were receiving counselling.

She added: "A book of condolence for Matthew, containing words and pictures, is available to sign in our Banbury reception."

Rounding on a town centre road problem

By Oliver Evans

ROAD chiefs are to look at whether a major traffic hotspot in Banbury town centre should get a roundabout.

Oxfordshire County Council is considering replacing the four-way lights system at the junction of Bridge Street and Cherwell Street.

A traffic officer's report said the aim was to improve traffic flow and pedestrian crossing facilities.

Rodney Rose, the council's transport chief, said: "Something needs to be done. It is a matter of making sure we spend money to the best effect, to make sure we do good rather than harm."

"Until I see the results of the modelling, I don't know." The junction is a major pinchpoint for traffic between Oxford and the M40 via the town. Giles Richardson, who owns Banbury Appliance Centre, by the junction, said: "When the lights are off being repaired, the traffic flow is much easier."

"When they first installed the lights, everybody said it needed a roundabout."

"There is always congestion. It would be easier with a roundabout because there would be a constant flow of traffic."

But Keith Richardson, of Credit Crunch Cars, by the railway station in Bridge Street, was less convinced.

He said: "The problem with a roundabout is that if there are a lot of cars coming round, it would be harder to get across than a set of lights."

Traffic could also back up along Bridge Street and Cherwell Street as a result, he said.

Banbury Civic Society chairman Rob Kinchin-Smith said the crossing was "dangerous" for pedestrians.

He said: "Whether a roundabout would make life safer for pedestrians remains unclear. Many have observed how well, and how safely, the junction works when the Bridge Street lights are out-of-order."

He said it was a "big mistake" to build Cherwell Street as part of an inner relief road in the 1990s, linking the Horton General Hospital to the A422.

Finale for literary festival

ORGANISERS of a much loved literary festival in King's Sutton have called time on the event.

The King's Sutton Literary Festival has been running for eight years and has attracted thousands of book lovers.

It was a celebration of books in the spring time and featured writing workshops, book stalls and discussions.

Crime writer PD James, actor and director Sir Derek Jacobi and historian Peter Hennessy have all appeared over the years.

Festival organiser Rona Rowe said: "From my perspective, it was right for me to say goodbye and when I spoke to the committee we agreed we had given it our best."

"The last festival was fantastic and we have made our contribution."

"We have shown others what is possible and we have created a space for something new to come forward."

"I would like to thank all the people who have contributed and supported us over the years. We were the big society at its best."

Coffee, anyone?

By Rhianne Pope

A POPULAR street warden is urging people to drop in for a coffee and help her support a charity close to her heart.

Mags Harris, 60, is now back at work pounding the streets of Banbury following treatment for breast cancer.

She was diagnosed in March this year after a routine mammogram and underwent a mastectomy a month later.

She said: "It was a horrendous shock and all I could think of was the fact that my mother had had breast cancer and only survived for a further five years.

"But things have progressed so much since her diagnosis. Early detection and better treatments make a huge difference.

"I had excellent results from all the tests done after my surgery and found I didn't need to have chemotherapy or radiation treatment.

"I will need five years of

Warming up the kettle to raise cash for Macmillan

hormone tablet treatment and regular monitoring to reduce the risk of this coming back on the other side.

"I have been incredibly lucky with this as it has been caught so early."

Ms Harris has urged women to get regular check-ups and is supporting cancer charity Macmillan's World's Biggest Coffee Morning fundraiser.

She said: "I know three women who refuse to have their routine mammograms because they think it will hurt and they are also worried about the results.

"All I know is that if I had refused mine I would be in a totally different situation.

"Please don't refuse your routine checks and be breast aware, for your own sake. It is so important."

Ms Harris and her street warden colleagues plan to open their office in Bradley Arcade, Bretch Hill, tomorrow, from 11am to 2pm, for people to drop in for coffee and help raise cash.

Macmillan's fundraising manager for Oxfordshire, Julian Knowles, said: "Mags is a real ambassador for Macmillan.

"Without supporters like her, we wouldn't be able to sustain the level of support and assistance to people affected by cancer in Oxfordshire."

To support Ms Harris view: justgiving.com/MagsHarris or send a text with the code 'MAGS60 £' and the amount they wish to give to 70070.

Another Macmillan coffee morning event will be held at Banbury Town Hall, between 10am and noon – but a host of other events will be held over the weekend.

To find a local coffee morning, visit: www.macmillan.org.uk/coffee or call 0845 602 1246.

ARE YOU SLEEPING ON THE RIGHT BED?

The right bed is extremely important to our health and wellbeing because our sleeping environment will affect the quality of our sleep – which in turn has a big affect on how well we feel, both physically and psychologically. A bed with the correct support, comfort and space will ensure you wake less, move about less, are less disturbed by your partner and are less likely to wake up feeling tired or aching.

So, what is the right bed? It's not easy to make specific recommendations – there's such a huge choice on the market place and the key deciding factor – is it comfortable – is such a subjective measure. "All we can do is give people an overview of the different types of bed available and tips on how to go about the process of choosing the right bed for them," explains Sleep Council spokesperson Jessica Alexander. The Sleep Council was set up to provide an independent source of advice on bed buying – as well as to raise awareness of the importance of getting a good night's sleep to health and wellbeing.

According to The Sleep Council, Goldilocks had the right idea: the right bed's neither too soft nor too hard – but it suits everyone's very individual needs. First and foremost it must give you correct support and comfort – but individuals might also have to consider factors such as back pain, allergies, breathing problems, available budget, storage or space requirements – let alone style preferences.

The right bed is also not more than 8-10 years old. After 10 years a bed used regularly will have deteriorated by as much as 75% from its "as new" condition. Nor is it ever second hand: it's not hygienic (we sweat as much as half to a pint of liquid a night!); nor healthy (dust mites accumulate in beds – bad for asthma sufferers). Nor will it be properly supportive (having been moulded to someone else's sleeping habits).

There are many types – and prices of beds – from which to choose, each offering their own features and benefits. Mattresses come with various types of internal spring unit – open coil, pocket sprung or continuous springing – in ordinary foam, visco-elastic or latex foam, filled with cotton or other fibres (futon!) – even water (flotation beds).

There are many different base options, too – from simple upholstered divans (which you can still get on legs if preferred, although retailers rarely show them this way) to metal or wooden bedsteads or all-singing, all-dancing adjustable beds. If you are not buying a base and mattress from the same supplier, make sure the mattress is suitable for use with the type of support you are considering: if you don't, lack of durability could be a problem, with no comeback to the supplier.

You should spend as much as you can afford on a new bed – it's probably one of the most important investments you'll make, not just for your home but also for your own wellbeing! Remember, every £100 you spend represents just 2.7p a night over 10 years.

200 apply for NHS 'resignation'

A VOLUNTARY "resignation" scheme re-launched this year by managers of Oxfordshire's hospitals has attracted 200 applications.

The Mutually Agreed Resignation Scheme is an NHS option that offers employees a severance payment to leave their job voluntarily.

It was first put forward last year after NHS organisations – including The Oxford Radcliffe Hospitals Trust, which runs the Horton in Banbury as well as the John Radcliffe and Churchill hospitals in Oxford – were told they had to make significant savings. A spokesman said: "Last year, the trust invited staff to apply for a Mutually Agreed Resignation Scheme – this is not the same as Voluntary Redundancy."

"This provides staff with an opportunity to leave the Trust voluntarily with a severance payment."

"A similar scheme has been running this year and so far about 200 people have applied."

The trust said it would not automatically accept applications as the decision depended on clinical need.

High hopes for hospice

By Sam McGregor

A HOSPICE volunteer will go above and beyond the call of duty to raise vital cash.

Charlotte Austin, a volunteer receptionist at the Adderbury-based Katharine House Hospice, is in training to climb the highest mountain in Africa – Mount Kilimanjaro.

She roped in her partner, Pete Rimmer, and later this month the pair will travel to Tanzania, for the five-day mountain trek.

During the climb the pair will trek more than 50 miles to the top of the 5,895-metre-high mountain, where temperatures range from tropical jungle heat at the base to minus 20°C at the summit.

Ms Austin, 26, said: "I was inspired by a close friend who took on this challenge. Luckily, Pete shared this ambition, and so together we have been training across the UK, including climbing Scafell Pike."

"From my experiences volunteering for over three years, I know the hospice touches the lives of so many and raising money to enable them to continue seemed like the natural thing to do."

Valerie Carter, community fundraiser for Katharine House, said: "We were delighted to hear that Charlotte and Pete are planning this trek to raise funds for Katharine House."

"It sounds an exciting challenge and I am sure they will enjoy the experience."

"We are so grateful for their support as we rely heavily on donations from the community."

Young film hunk picks a dud

ABDUCTION (12A, 105 mins)
Action/Thriller/Romance. Taylor Lautner, Lily Collins, Denzel Whitaker, Sigourney Weaver, Alfred Molina, Michael Nyqvist, Jason Isaacs, Maria Bello. Director: John Singleton.

When 16-year-old Taylor Lautner was cast as lovesick Jacob Black in the first Twilight film, media attention focused on Robert Pattinson and Kristen Stewart and their sizzling chemistry.

Then Lautner gained 30 pounds in muscle to convincingly portray Jacob's transformation into a snarling werewolf.

Overnight, the young actor became a sex symbol and gained a following to rival his co-stars.

Lautner strikes out on his own in the action-packed thriller Abduction, in which he attempts to prove that he's much more than a pretty face with washboard abs.

Alas, he's picked a dud.

John Singleton's film boasts turbo-charged chases and fight sequences but Shawn Christensen's script is littered with unintentionally hilarious interludes and some excruciating dialogue.

The highlight is a toss-up between the gun-toting henchman who confides, "There's a bomb in the oven", and the chief villain, who snarls menacingly, "When I'm finished, you'll be responsible for the deaths of everyone on Facebook."

That would be quite some killing spree.

High school student Nathan Harper (Lautner) thinks he has the perfect life with caring parents Kevin (Jason Isaacs) and Mara (Maria Bello).

Yet something is amiss.

"I walk around like everyone else but inside I feel like a stranger in my own life," Nathan tells his shrink, Dr Bennett (Sigourney Weaver), who twitches nervously at the camera, tipping us off that she knows more than she is letting on.

While researching a school project on missing children, Nathan discovers that he bears an uncanny resemblance to the age-modified image of a boy who went missing many years ago.

"If this is real, then who are those people living in your house?" asks next-door neighbour Karen (Lily Collins), the object of Nathan's smouldering affections.

Before Nathan has a chance to learn the truth from his parents, assassins slay Kevin and Mara and the teenager goes on the run with Karen in tow, aided by best friend Gilly (Denzel Whitaker), who makes "the best fake IDs in Pennsylvania."

That should come in useful.

Then shadowy CIA Agent Burton (Alfred Molina) makes contact with Nathan and warns the teenager that he is a pawn in a dastardly plot.

Abduction is utter nonsense from

Nathan (Taylor Lautner) in a scene from Abduction hormone-fuelled beginning to end.

Lautner is naturally likeable and easy on the eye but there is nothing in the script to test his acting mettle or to suggest his character has any emotional depth.

Predictable twists in the plot culminate in a final showdown that is tarred by yet more syrupy sentiment.

Magic of hypnotism

HYPNOTIST Chris Hughes was seen working his magic on our TV screens earlier this month, when he attempted to help a former pop star beat the bulge.

The hypnotherapist was trying to help former Steps singer Claire Richards lose weight on her new documentary Slave to Food.

Married with two small daughters - Jessica, two, and Holly, one - Mr Hughes, 36, has a successful hypnotherapy practice in Banbury, where he helps people to quit smoking, lose weight and conquer their phobias.

In the Slave to Food documentary he hypnotised the now overweight former pop starlet Miss Richards to help her improve her confidence and attitude to food.

He said: "I was approached to do the show by its researchers. They were searching the Internet for a fairly high profile hypnotist and said Claire had a big interest in hypnosis and wanted to give it a go.

"I have no idea whether I helped her - only time will tell, but she was lovely, very down to earth with a great sense of humour."

Mr Hughes, from Banbury, is no stranger to publicity.

In January 2010 he announced plans to set a new world record for the largest hypnosis session, putting thousands of people "under" and convincing them their hands and eyes were locked tight.

However, the session was halted at the last moment after lawyers advised him it would leave him open to lawsuits from people claiming to have been injured while in the trance.

Undeterred, he promptly recorded the session - and it has so far been downloaded over 100,000 times.

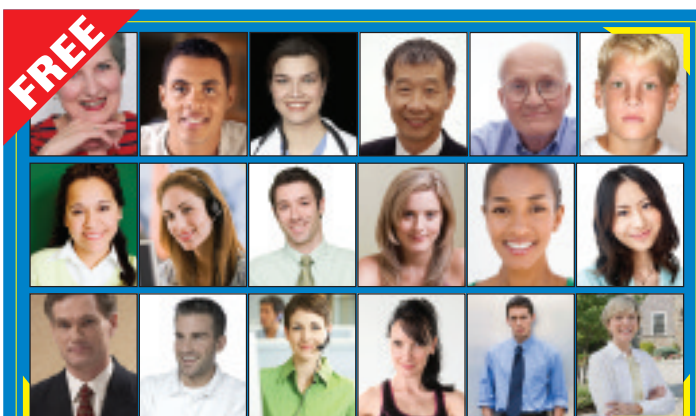

He said: "I am planning to do the social trance event again next year, on January 4, but this time completely live.

"Plus I've got some more TV work planned for later this year. It's about phobias, but I can't reveal any more at the moment.

"It's all very exciting," he added.

"I am hoping to use TV to help educate and remove all the misconceptions about hypnosis."

STEFAN Bailey, on his debut, and Simeon Williams were sent off as Banbury United slid to defeat at Cambridge City.

It was Banbury's third defeat in a row.

The visitors never looked like scoring, with home keeper Zac Barrett not having a shot to save.

Early on, Banbury had a lucky escape when Williams handled, but Andy Kemp parried Joey Abb's resulting spot-kick, but Lee Clift hit the rebound over.

However, minutes later, City went in front in spectacular style when Danny Kelly bent a fierce free-kick around the wall and inside a post.

Three minutes later, a corner from Joe Coleman was met at the near post by Bailey, but his glancing header just beat the far post.

In injury time, Cambridge doubled their lead when Kelly's shot was saved by Kemp, but Kelly rammed home the loose ball.

Banbury improved after the break, but failed to trouble City's rearguard.

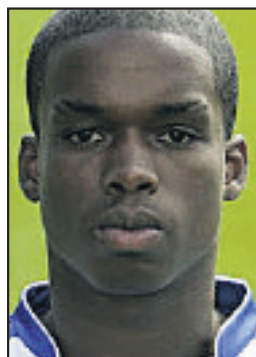

Cambridge wrapped it up when Kelly slipped the ball past Kemp for his hat-trick.

Banbury went down to ten men when Bailey picked up a second yellow card.

Minutes later Williams did the same to complete a miserable day for Banbury.

Banbury Utd: Kemp, Williams, Kinch, Bailey, Hinchliffe, Hutchcox, Youngs (Polk 78), Coleman, Green (Herbert 46), Woodley, Kingston (Edmond 70). Subs not used: Fuller.

Attendance: 310.

High hopes for Mini rally squad

BANBURY'S Mini World Rally Championship team are hoping for another top placing as they head for Strasbourg today and their fourth event of the year, Rally France-Alsace.

The team are keen to capitalise on its third place in Germany for Spaniard Dani Sordo and the Tarmac performance shown by the Mini John Cooper Works WRC.

While the rest of the World Rally Championship competitors have been in Australia, the Minis have been back at the Prodrive HQ in Banbury.

Since the Rally Germany, both drivers, Sordo and Kris Meeke, have been getting valuable time behind the wheel.

Team principal David Richards said: "Dani and Kris have proven that the Mini is competitive on Tarmac. Just like in Germany we will be going to France to show the performance of the car and aiming for both drivers to finish in strong positions."

"Whether we can repeat the podium in Trier remains to be seen."

bathroom and bedroom.

The 1.7-acre grounds include a triple garage, automated gates, refurbished gym, formal gardens, an orchard and paddock.

Period features include mullion leaded-light windows, exposed beams, window seats, open fireplaces, solid wooden floors and a studded-oak front door.

Nick Rudge, of Savills, said:

Court End, Adderbury, is on the market for £1.95m

"This property needs a little modernising. The kitchens and bathrooms are fine but could do with being upgraded and a buyer might want to redecorate and recarpet the property.

"What is now the gym could be made into a really impressive home office, whereas the self-contained flat is ideal for an au pair, nanny or teenager.

"There is one wall left of a chapel that once stood in the grounds. We understand it is 17th-century or earlier and there is huge potential to build an orangery or similar on that site."

New saloon adds real passion

Whatever you feel about the French, there is no denying they go about their business with a certain sense of style.

Whether it is blocking ports with fishing boats, or bringing the nation's road network to a grinding halt over a small industrial dispute, the nation consistently acts with real flair.

That air of passion is what separates the new Peugeot 508 from its direct competitors, such as the Ford Mondeo, Vauxhall Insignia and Volkswagen Passat.

Anyone slipping behind the wheel of any of these cars will be seeking — and guaranteed of finding — a well-built, well-equipped and accomplished performer.

What the 508 offers on top of being quiet and smooth, with handling that errs on the side of comfort, is that rare touch of designer elegance. From its piercing headlights and 'floating' grille at the end of the long aluminium bonnet, to the red 'claws' at the rear that mask three rows of LEDs, the spacious saloon exudes a real sense of solidity and effortless style.

With prices ranging from £18,450 to £29,000, Peugeot has backed up its style assault with some substantial technology.

The test car, in so-called Active trim, was fitted with a 1.6-litre diesel engine using a 'stop and start' system.

It took me some time to fully adjust to the system, which cuts the engine at 5mph and fires up instantly when the accelerator pedal is depressed.

Make no mistake, this is a big car, recognised by the fact that the engine in the test car — the smallest fitted in the range — delivers a healthy 112 horsepower.

My initial reaction was that the engine, mated to a six-speed electronic gearbox, was underpowered for such a spacious and solid saloon, and initially I yearned for an engine further up the range to allow the car to really stretch its legs.

But once mastered, the engine can be manipulated to deliver not only a decent turn of acceleration, but truly awesome fuel consumption. Even driven hard, with a full tank of fuel, it should be possible to cover well over 800 miles.

And that economy, and low emissions, might be a deal clincher in the highly-competitive executive fleet market, where Peugeot is determined to stake a larger claim.

To ensure its appeal as a company car choice, the air-conditioned interior reflects the elegance of the exterior, with a meticulous finish and a refined technologically advanced feel.

Latest motoring news in brief

■ Volkswagen has released details of its latest model, a timely introduction of a limited edition Golf GTI to celebrate the car's 35th birthday. The special edition Golf GTI boasts an increase in standard equipment over a regular GTI plus a more powerful engine. With the order book open now and cars expected to appear in October, prices start at £27,525 for the manual transmission three-door model, with a £1,295 premium for the DSG gearbox and £585 for five doors. Its maker is touting the anniversary GTI as its most powerful yet.

■ Volvo has announced that it will build its cars exclusively around four-cylinder engines from now on. The six-cylinder T6 and the five-cylinder T5, D5 and more recently the D4 and D3, are set to be killed off as the respective models they serve are replaced. The move comes as part of a concerted effort by the company to lose weight from its cars at the same time as increasing efficiency.

■ An evolved version of the popular Panda city car will appear on the Fiat stand at the Frankfurt Motor Show. Most obvious are the changes to the exterior design, with many of the straight-edged lines of the old car smoothed out to give a look more akin to its baby brother, the 500. The new Panda has slightly increased exterior dimensions.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE OF ADVERTISEMENTS

- Orders for insertion of advertisements in NEWSQUEST (OXFORDSHIRE & WILTSHIRE) LTD titles are accepted subject to the following conditions:
- By placing the order the Advertiser warrants that the advertisement is legal, decent, honest and truthful complying with the British Codes of Advertising and Sales Promotion, with any relevant codes of practice and with all requirements of current legislation and that it contains nothing that is defamatory or that constitutes an infringement of the proprietary or other rights of any third party.
  - The Advertiser agrees to indemnify the Publisher in respect of all costs, damages or other charges falling upon the newspaper as the result of legal actions or threatened legal actions arising from the publication of the advertisement.
  - While every endeavour will be made to meet the wishes of the Advertiser, the Publisher does not guarantee the insertion of any particular advertisement either on any specified date or dates or at all.
  - All advertisements must be accompanied by the name and address of the Advertiser for record purposes and the Publisher may require evidence to establish the Advertiser's bona fides and to substantiate any claims made in the advertisement.
  - (i) In the event of any error, misprint or omission in the printing of an advertisement or part of an advertisement the Publisher will at the Publisher's election either re-insert the advertisement or part of an advertisement as the case may be or make a reasonable refund or adjustment to the cost. No re-insertion, refund or adjustment will be made where the error, misprint or omission does not materially detract from the advertisement.
  - (ii) In no circumstances shall the total liability of the Publisher for any error, misprint or omission exceed (a) the amount of a full refund of any price paid to the Publisher for the advertisement in connection with which liability arose or (b) the cost of a further or corrective advertisement of a type and standard reasonably comparable to that in connection with which liability arose.
  - (iii) The Advertiser agrees to check the published advertisement for any errors or omissions and to notify the Publisher thereof by 9.30 the following morning, if correction and republication is required. If no notice is received by 9.30 the following morning, the Advertiser is deemed to have accepted the advertisement in its entirety and will pay the full charge.
  - (iv) The Publisher shall not be liable for any loss or damage occasioned by any total or partial failure (however caused) of publication or distribution of any newspaper or edition in which any advertisement is scheduled to appear.
  - THE PUBLISHER RESERVES THE RIGHT TO:
    - Cancel the order at any time by giving reasonable notice before the next insertion, but in that event the Advertiser shall not be liable for payment of the difference (if any) between the rates for the series specified in the order and the usual price for the series of insertions which has appeared when the order is stopped;
    - Make any alteration it considers necessary or desirable in an advertisement and to require artwork or copy to be amended to meet its approval.
  - Queries over classified advertisements which have been cancelled must be accompanied by the stop number given at the time of cancellation.
  - The deadline for cancellation is the same deadline as the space booking, after this time no cancellation will be accepted for the following publications:
Oxford Mail, Witney Gazette, Bicester Advertiser, Herald Series, Oxford Star, Oxford Times and Banbury Cake.
  - Should the rate for advertisements be altered, the cost of remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the Publisher has the option of cancelling the unexpired portion of the order.
  - Voucher copies or tearsheets will not be supplied unless otherwise agreed.
  - The Advertiser's artwork, film and all other property is held at the Advertiser's risk and should be insured by him against loss or damage from whatever cause. The Publisher reserves the right to destroy without notice all artwork, film and other property which has been in his custody for six months from the date of its last appearance unless the Advertiser has given instructions to the contrary and has obtained the Publisher's written acknowledgement that the Publisher has received such instructions.
  - (i) Every endeavour will be made to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser as soon as possible after receipt by the Publisher, but the Publisher accepts no liability in respect of any loss or damage alleged to have arisen through delay in forwarding or omitting to forward such replies (howsoever caused). The Advertiser authorises the Publisher to open any letter for examination and to destroy or return to its originator any communication which, in the opinion of the Publisher, should not be delivered to the Advertiser. Readers are advised not to enclose original references or stamped addressed envelopes with their replies.
  - (ii) The Publisher reserves the right to disclose the name and address of Advertisers and/or agencies to the police, trading standards officials, or any other relevant authority and, where the Publisher in its sole discretion deems it reasonable, to other third parties.
  - SETTLEMENT OF ACCOUNTS:
    - Regular Advertisers holding an account number - all invoices must be paid within 30 days from the date of the invoice. Failure to comply with this request may result in credit facilities being withdrawn and advertising stopped. Any discounts negotiated are subject to payment within our monthly account terms.
    - Other Advertisers - All advertisements to the value of £100 require pre-payment by cheque, postal order, most major credit cards, Switch or cash at any of our Branch Offices.
    - The existence of a query on any individual invoice will not affect the due date of payment for the balance of the account.
    - The copyright for all purposes in all artwork, copy and other material which the Publisher or its employees have originated, contributed to or reworked shall vest in the Publisher.
    - The Publisher is hereby authorised to record, reproduce, publish, distribute and broadcast (or to permit the same) all advertisements (including but not limited to text, artwork and photographs) and to include and make them available in any information service, electronic or otherwise.
  - The placing of an order by an Advertiser constitutes an assurance that all necessary authority and permission has been secured in respect of the use in the advertisement(s) of pictorial representations of (or purporting to be of) living persons, and of references to the words attributed to living persons.
  - Advertisement orders issued by an advertising agency as a principal must be on the agency's official form. When copy instructions not constituting an official order are issued, they shall be clearly marked 'Copy instructions - not an order'.
  - Users of the computerised artwork delivery system, via ISDN, must before transmission obtain a unique reference number from the Publisher in order that their artwork can be identified upon receipt. The Publisher will not be responsible for errors occasioned by the subsequent receipt of artwork without any such identification.
  - Mail Order and One Day Sale Advertisements. The types of advertisements are accepted at the sole discretion of the Advertisement Manager or his/her deputies. All such advertisements must be pre-paid and copy submitted at least 7 working days before publication. The Publisher reserves the right to refuse to publish any such advertisement containing copy which we find not acceptable and will not be responsible for any costs incurred by the Advertiser or his Agents, either before or after such refusal.
  - SEX DISCRIMINATION ACT.
No advertisement which indicates or can reasonably be understood as indicating an intention to discriminate on the grounds of sex (e.g. by inviting invitations from only male or only females) may be accepted unless exempted from the requirements of the Sex Discrimination Act. A statement must be made at the time the advertisement is placed, saying which of the exceptions in the Act is considered to apply.
  - RACE RELATIONS ACT.
The Publisher reserves the right not to accept recruitment advertisements which request a photograph or hints of discrimination on racial grounds in support of an application.
  - TRADE DESCRIPTIONS ACT
All advertisements will be accepted only on the express condition that the Advertiser warrants that the advertisement does not in any way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968.
  - Business Opportunities. Advertisements are accepted at the sole discretion of the Advertisement Manager or his/her deputies and will appear in the Classified section under the appropriate heading. Readers are recommended to take professional advice before entering into any obligations.
  - Dating Agencies and advertisements for companions are accepted at the sole discretion of the Advertisement Manager or his/her deputies and will appear in the Classified section under the appropriate heading. Readers are recommended to consider very carefully and make the fullest enquiries before giving any personal details.
  - All orders from Advertising Agencies are governed by the standard conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. The Director's personal guarantee given to the Newspaper Society at the time of recognition is deemed to be part of these conditions of acceptance.
  - All gross advertising rates (except Classified Linetype) are subject to a 0.1 per cent Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by Advertisers to help finance the self regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
  - If an Advertiser in receipt of series or volume discount cancels before fulfilling the terms for the discount the Publisher reserves the right to make a surcharge up to the full published rates for the type of advertisement.
  - The placing of an order for the insertion of an advertisement shall amount to an acceptance of the above conditions and any conditions stipulated on an Advertiser's order form or elsewhere shall be valid insofar as they are in conflict with them.
